

Child Protection Policy

Fabretto takes child protection very seriously and takes active measures to prevent disclosure and collection of children's personal information (children internet users, and children beneficiaries).

CHILDREN INTERNET USERS

Fabretto complies with the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998. Fabretto's website is not specifically directed to children under 13. Fabretto shall not knowingly distribute to third parties any personally identifiable information erroneously collected from children under 13. If informed that information from a child under 13 has been collected or received, Fabretto will delete such information immediately from its databases.

FABRETTO CHILDREN BENEFICIARIES:

Child Protection Policy is based upon Fabretto Children's Foundation's Mission, Vision and Core Values; the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child; and the guidance provided by other organizations and coalitions working internationally for the education, health and welfare of children worldwide.

Fabretto will not disclose personal information of children beneficiaries. When the story of one of the children is shared with the purpose of informing and educating donors and partners, the names of the children in the story could be changed, and will not disclose any other information that might identify him/her (last name, address, contact information). If the story of an older child (16 years or older) is shared, the full name may be used if the child gives his/her permission to do so.

Fabretto requires that individuals wear official Fabretto identification when collecting audiovisual material of children beneficiaries. All Fabretto staff, volunteers, and visitors who take photographs/videos or perform interviews must display Fabretto Media Badge. Badges will be printed, authorized, and distributed by the Director of Marketing & Communications. For short-term volunteers/visitors, a Fabretto staff member must wear the badge while accompanying the group and clearly communicate Fabretto's expectations and policies to the members of the group.

Fabretto Center Education Directors share Child Protection Policy with community members, and parents/guardians of Fabretto beneficiaries are asked to sign a form to demonstrate that they understand the Media Policy. If necessary and appropriate, we will ask the child's legal guardian for permission to use the child in publicity materials.
